Course Description: First Responder agencies are frequently requested by schools, businesses, and community members for direction on what they should do if confronted during an active attack event. The Civilian Response and Casualty Care (CRCC) course is designed and built on the Avoid, Deny, Defend (ADD) strategy developed by ALERRT in 2004. The training provides strategies, guidance and a proven plan for surviving an active attack event. These courses combine the civilian response with a small medical component, which empowers civilians to provide life-saving medical aid before first responders arrive. The training includes the history and prevalence of active shooter events, the role and options for immediate (civilian) responders, and covers limited medical prevention.

Course Objectives: The objectives of the CRCC training is to aid and enhance local and state agencies, schools, colleges, universities, businesses, and community members with direction if they are confronted with an active attack event.

Prerequisites: Secure all weapons prior to course entry.

Equipment: Pen and paper – good attitude.

Tuition and Cost: Tuition and course materials are free.
